Justice Planning -Workforce Development Team

The Workforce Development (JPWD) Task Force provides a number of reentry and employment services to individuals with a criminal record - including those from within the community and individuals who are incarcerated. The program's success is driven in part by the diverse and extensive list of qualifications held by the Task Force members. Over the last decade the team has grown from one person to a team of nine skilled professionals. Our team strives to ensure that individuals struggling with barriers, as a result of criminal justice involvement, have everything that they need to become productive residents of Travis County.

"To assist individuals in need of supportive services, employment, and essential resources to enhance public safety and ensure the well-being of all Travis County residents."
